Supporting Details

Miss: Alia Ismail

Functional English (SS1012)

Supporting Details

- There are two types of supporting details in a text:
  - Major Details
  - Minor Details

Not all texts have both major and minor details.

Major Details

- General ideas that support the main idea of the text.
  - Reasons
  - Points in an argument
  - Points of a comparison
  - Further elaboration of a main idea

Minor Details

- Specific details that illustrate and support the major details of a text.
  - Examples
  - Specific Details
  - Specific Instances
  - Statistics

Key Questions

- Who or what is the passage about? (Topic)
- What is the author trying to convey about the topic? (Main Idea)
- What reasons or points support the main idea about the topic? (Major Details)
- What examples, details, or statistics illustrate the ideas in the text? (Minor Details)

Signal Words

- Major Details
  - First, Second, Third
  - One
  - Another
  - Furthermore
  - Moreover
  - Next
  - Also
  - Finally

Signal Words

- Minor Details
  - For example
  - An example is
  - For instance
  - To be specific
  - That is
  - This means
  - Case in point
  - To illustrate

Identify Main Idea, Major and Minor Details:

1.Neighborhood watch programs are good for everyone. 2.One reason for this is that neighborhood watches unite neighbors in a common goal. 3.Neighbors work together to protect each other. 4.One family's security becomes everyone's concern. 5.Another reason is that neighborhood watches reduce crime in a couple of ways. 6.Posted signs act as deterrents to criminals. 7.Neighbors in these areas are more likely to report any suspicious persons or activities. 8.And finally, watch programs keep neighbor's alert. 9.Because neighbors meet regularly, everyone is more aware of events, rules, or changes in the community.

Main Idea: Neighborhood watch programs are good for everyone (in the following ways). Major: Neighborhood watches unite neighbors in a common goal. Minor: Neighbors work together to Protect each other. Minor: One family's security becomes everyone's concern. Major: Neighborhood watches reduce crime. Minor: Posted signs act as deterrents to criminals. Minor: Neighbors are more likely to report suspicious persons or activities. Major: Watch programs keep neighbors alert. Minor: Because neighbors meet regularly, they are more aware of events, rules, or changes in the community.